TRADITIONAL IN EVERY WAY, MEMORIAL DAY 1966 - David Earley, 12 Cedar Rd., munches coconut on the half shell, following an Andover custom of long standing. At one of the number of solemn services held throughout the town, Col. John Kemper, headmaster of Phillips Academy, addresses those following the parade to pay homage to the dead of all wars fought by the United

Norman M. Thomas Abbot Speaker Academy Graduating 78 At South Church Tuesday

Norman M. Thomas, for many years the standard bearer of the Socialist party in the United States, will be the commencement speaker for Abbot Academy June 6.

At 82, Mr. Thomas is still keenly interested and active in the affairs of this country and the world. He appears at Abbot as the grandfather of one of the graduates.

Among the 78 girls receiving diplomas will be eight from Andover.

The commencement ceremony is to begin at 10 a.m. at South Church. Mrs. Alexander Crane, principal, will award the diplomas and Philip K. Allen, president of the academy's board of trustees, will preside over the ceremony.

Commencement activities follow a tradition handed down from year to year. Singing on the steps of Abbot Hall followed by the Athletic Awards presentation will begin the weekend on Friday evening. Last Chapel will be held on Saturday morning at which time academic awards will be given. Seniors and their families will be honored at a garden party Saturday afternoon, and the senior play, "Blithe Spirit" by Noel Coward, will be presented in the evening.

Mr. A. Graham Baldwin, who is retiring this year as minister at Phillips Academy, will deliver the Baccalaureate address on Sunday morning at the South Church. Sunday evening a musicale will be given by the seniors for their parents preceded by a buffet supper.

Local girls who will receive diplomas are:

Lucy Sanger Crane, daughter of Mrs. Alexander Crane, principal

Rain Keeps Water Demand At "Fairly" Steady Level

The good, prolonged rain that fell in Andover Saturday is credited with keeping the demand for water at a fairly steady level in the first week in a year that outdoor watering has been permitted.

Water Supt. Donald C. Bassett said consumption is continuing to run just over 2 million gallons a day, up only slightly over the week before Manager Richard Bowen declared an end to the ban on lawn and garden watering, car washing and pool filling.

Since Thursday Bassett has issued 32 permits for the filling of swimming pools. Only six were requested for the holiday weekend which the water superintendent had feared might be a public favorite for activating pools. The demand is, however, well spread. Bassett reports many people have scheduled their pool filling for June, after they have had time to clean, patch and paint.

Water from Fish Brook is still replenishing Haggett's Pond, though this reservoir continues to ride about two feet under the normal level for this time of year, Bassett said Wednesday.

He said he has seen some evidence that the flow from the brook is slowing, but that it could

Tax Survey Is Underway

In two to three weeks field workers for Whipple-Magane-Darcy Inc. will begin a detailed listing and inspection of all properties in the town of Andover as phase two of a tax equalization program.

Work is already underway in the town assessors' office where members of the evaluating firm are typing new data cards and transferring sketches from old records to these for reference during on site inspections.

Representatives of the firm making the tax survey will carry identification as proof of their association with Whipple-Magane-Darcy.

In charge of the overall evaluation is Robert F. Keane, vice president of the firm. Keane has had fourteen years experience in the revaluation field and is familiar with Andover because of his work with the 1958 revaluation. He is a resident of Fitchburg.

Field supervisor for the program will be Donald F. Smith who also worked on the previous Andover revaluation. He has had 10 years experience in the field.

Whipple-Magane is currently conducting similar equalization programs in the towns of Danvers, Northborough and Holden and the city of Leominster.

In A Word

Whiskey

During the prohibition era, key—or spiritus frumenti, as designated on Rxs—was prescribed to add a little life to ailing patients.

The same liquid, consumed in moderation, makes the life of the patient more vibrant today, often making them the life of the party.

All of which is not very surprising in view of the fact that the word "whiskey" is derived from the Gaelic word, which, literally translated, means "water of life."

Timely & Complex

The selectmen did well to respond with dispatch to the suggestion of S. Marcus Sweet that they establish a Historic District Study Committee.

Townpeople quelled the major expansions of the business district proposed by the planning board at the last Town Meeting, but they merely postponed the inevitable. Andover must eventually provide additional space for the location of businesses to dispense goods and services for its expanding population. In doing so she may jeopardize some of her most prized showplaces if there is no plan for determining just which buildings have historic value and providing for their preservation.

It is easy to see that the planning board has the right idea in proposing the commercial center grow in breadth rather than length. No one wants to see the development of a Main Street shopping strip in this sort of community. There is no reason, however, why the business district cannot grow around or skirt properties that have genuine historic significance.

We agree with Mr. Sweet that "the problem of encouraging the orderly growth of the business district . . . should be considered with thoughtful foresight in the best interests of all concerned."

The study committee will have a complex problem on its hands. The rights of individuals must be considered and it has been found elsewhere that not all property owners take kindly to being told that their real estate has been declared "historic" and may not be substantially altered nor ever destroyed. It complicates transfers and may inhibit the individual's opportunity to turn a profit.

Making use of what is already known about formulas for solutions to such problems Andover should, however, be able to devise a way to have its cake and eat it too.

The Problem

It sounds good, Dino Valz' suggestion in the letters column on this page that the town fathers stop thinking of a town hall site as the key to municipal building problems and consider instead a plan for housing "all general town services attractively, efficiently and economically . . . in a single structure, under single management on land adequate for building, parking and landscaping."

Mr. Valz neglects to mention precisely where a downtown site can be found large enough and cheap enough to accommodate such a government complex. And downtown it must be. The selectmen, the planning board — indeed virtually everyone but some spokesmen for the Chamber of Commerce, — have put aside consideration of any location outside the central business district.

Ten years ago the under-one-roof concept might have been a hot idea. Nothing much was happening downtown. But what complicates the situation for the present board of selectmen is not so much a mis-statement of the problem as the fact that numberless predecessors missed the boat.

Compact Comment

D.C. Logic: While one branch of the government in Washington readies legislation to raise the minimum wage so that more Americans can enjoy the benefits of a worthwhile take home pay, another debates the advisability of upping the income tax to curb inflation.

The State Senate will consider this week a measure which has already cleared the house. It would impose a penalty on persons who sell, exhibit or otherwise distribute certain printed materials which are harmful to minors.

While the purposes of the bill are laudatory, it needs some reworking. As written it would prevent published reproduction of many of the world's great art masterpieces and could even make circulation of National Geographic magazine illegal in the Commonwealth.

What Our Readers Say

Disastrous View

To the Editor of the Townsman: Your Memorial Day editorial quotes from President Johnson's Princeton speech: "... the Communist effort to force its authoritarian control on the people of South Vietnam is repugnant to all sense of decency. It must be stopped." As a matter of fact, Washington itself has been fostering and financing military dictatorship in South Vietnam for a decade. Contrary to specific international agreements, law, moral obligations, and realistic statesmanship our government has incorrectly assumed the right to intervene militarily in South Vietnam's civil war struggle for political independence and stability. This

American intervention, far from succeeding, has created immeasurable suffering, increasing destruction, and hopeless political and social chaos and is, indeed, "repugnant to all sense of decency. It must be stopped."

Mr. Robert Deyermund misunderstands the purpose of protesters; they are neither traitors nor "nuts", but citizens acting on their patriotic duty to speak out against injustice. The intention is not to insult President Johnson but to beg him to realize that our "arrogance of power" and our illegal and barbaric use of violence only encourages the growth of Communist violence and makes peace and stability unobtainable in South Vietnam — and in the United States! Also, contrary to what Mr. Deyermund states, the Chinese are not killing our American boys; some Vietnamese are — many of them non-communists — because foreign American soldiers are being forced to kill them. What an intolerable and totally senseless waste of American and Vietnamese lives!

"My country right or wrong" is a disastrous and undemocratic principle. If protesters are locked in prison as spies, as Mr. Deyermund suggests, America will succumb to political tyranny. America needs the courageous opposition of Senators Fulbright and Morse; she clamors for the protest of many more public and private citizens who refuse any longer to remain apathetic in the face of this immensely cruel and unpopular war unworthy of our American heritage.

Serious Mistake

To the Editor of the Townsman: In reviewing the town hall situation, your news feature does a good job of refreshing our memories about the complexities, but indirectly reveals what I believe to be a weakness in our present approach.

I think it is a serious mistake to say that our problem is to find a site for "town hall". To misstate the problem can have the tragic consequence of leading us to the right solution of the wrong problem.

The first thing we need to do is to define the problem correctly. To each his own definition, but here is the problem as I see it: To house all general town services attractively, efficiently, economically. This means a single structure, under single management on land adequate for the building, parking and landscaping.

Such a definition will quickly eliminate unsuitable sites. But if we insist on letting the tail wag the dog, we will continue to add to the mistakes we have already made in regard to municipal housing.

A Memorial

To the Editor of the Townsman: The passing of Dr. Blake a short time ago has taken from Andover one of its finest residents. Those persons who engaged his services are unanimous in their sorrow for the loss of such a fine person and physician.

Dr. Blake was never too tired or too busy to come when called regardless of the hour of day or night. He was indeed dedicated to his calling in life.

Andover has lost one of its finest citizens who will be missed by his many friends. His place in the community will not be easily filled.

Tax Abatement Proposed As Conservation Incentive

A tax abatement of 80 per cent of the assessed value of "classified open land" was recommended last week in proposed legislation filed with the General Court as part of the final report of the Special Commission on the Taxation of Forest Land, Farm Land and Open Space Land.

The report and accompanying legislation were filed by the chairman of the commission, T. W. Schulenberg, commissioner, Massachusetts Department of Commerce and Development.

Members of the special commission were Charles H. McNamara, Commissioner of Agriculture; Guy J. Rizzotto, commissioner of corporations and taxation; Charles H. W. Foster, commissioner of natural resources; Attorney Robert T. Capeless, Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers Assns. Inc.; Benjamin W. Nason, Massachusetts Forest and Park Assn. and Philip N. Good, Massachusetts Farm Bureau Federation Inc.

The report recommended establishment within the Department of Natural Resources of an unpaid Massachusetts Open Lands Commission. This commission would designate land and water areas for each city and town which should be retained predominantly in a natural or open state.

Commissioner Schulenberg said the problem presented to the special commission for investigation and study was how to prevent the pressure of annual real estate taxes from forcing the urban development of those farms, forests and other open spaces which it is in the public interest to retain as open land.

The present taxation practices in Massachusetts he said put great pressure on the owners of farms, forest lands and open spaces for the urban development or other intensive use of these properties which might better be reserved as open land by reason of their value for conservation, outdoor recreation, agriculture, forestry, water supply, etc.

The report of the commission examined at length methods of inducement to reserve lands as open space, in effect in other states, by means of preferential tax treatment and deferral of taxes, or a combination of both.

Finally, the report proposed legislation entitled, "An Act Establishing An Open Land Reservation Program for Massachusetts."

It would establish within the Department of Natural Resources an unpaid Massachusetts Open Lands Commission. The commissioner of natural resources would be chairman. Members would be the commissioner of agriculture, the commissioner of corporations and taxation, the commissioner of commerce and development and three persons to be appointed by the Governor.

The Act provides: That the Commission shall designate land and water areas for each city and town which should be retained predominantly in a natural or open state by reason of their value for conservation, recreation, agriculture, forestry, water supply and proper municipal, regional and state resource planning.

Designation would be accomplished by majority vote of the commission subject to approval by the city council or selectmen and further approval by the mayor at town meeting.

Under the proposed legislation Schulenberg said, any parcel of land within an area so designated would become "classified open land" by filing by the owner with the city or town clerk an instrument conveying to the city or town for a period of twenty years and rights or interests as will prevent its development or use for industrial, commercial or residential use except farming, forestry and outdoor recreation.

Taxes to the extent of eighty per cent (80%) of the assessed value thereof would be abated. Under the proposal, before the expiration of the twenty year period the owner could have the land classified upon the payment to the city or town of an amount equal to two-thirds of the most recent assessed value of the parcel.

A city or town could also take such land out of classification either unconditionally or upon terms and conditions as the city or town and the owner might agree.

The selectmen at a special meeting appointed Chas. O. Cummings a fence viewer in place of Nathan F. Abbott, who declined to serve.

William Higgins, an old and respected resident of Andover, died this week in Wilmington.

Nathan Shattuck has bought a piece of land just in the rear of his place on Chester Street off Herbert Moody. Chester Street is one of the prettiest streets in town now.

50 Years Ago — June, 1916

While hunting for wild flowers one day this week, Helen C. Conkey of Porter Road had the good fortune to find some unusual specimens. Who ever saw a lady's slipper with five blossoms on one stem, or even one with two blossoms? Miss Conkey found both of these, also a buttercup with four flowers on one stem, besides a four, five and a six leaved clover. Pretty good luck for one day.

In the parade of work horses held in Boston, two horses owned by Frank E. Wright of this town were winners in the Express Division. One was awarded a blue ribbon and the other a red ribbon.

Each Memorial Day marks the passing of just a few more of the old veterans, and the day is very close at hand when the entire work incident to the proper observance of this important anniversary must be left to other hands. The attendance at the exercises keeps up wonderfully well, and yet is noticeable that the younger faces are notable by their absence; to whom is the work to go?

They can be cleaned and purified by the use of the right chemicals and the right filtering, skimming and vacuuming machinery.

It is, in fact, desirable to leave water in pools during winter to counteract the pressures from frozen ground surrounding them.

The only time one really needs to add water is when evaporation pushes the level lower than is desirable.

Though Andover residents are now permitted to fill pools, those interested in conservation of the town water supply, may wish to seek advice from a chemical company about pool cleaning techniques which will make this unnecessary.

continue at a beneficial rate for several more weeks if additional heavy rains fall. Fish Brook normally runs dry in late summer.

The new brook reservoir and pumping station was dedicated Saturday afternoon, despite the shower. Vice Chairman Robert A. Waters of the Board of Selectmen shattered a bottle of Fish Brook water against the railing of the dam intake to christen the $750,000 facility.

The dam was rushed through to completion after a special town meeting held early this year. The project was scheduled for consideration in 1967 but continuing drought conditions in New England prompted earlier action.

"The purpose of the delay is to permit federal, state and regional efforts to develop alternate means of transit assistance to go forward while the trains are still running," Morse said.

The Congressman pointed out that there are presently a number of petitions pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission to discontinue passenger service in the New England area. "At the same time a number of alternate proposals for assistance to commuter service are pending before the Congress and before state legislatures," Morse said.

"I am convinced that the one year grace period will contribute to the rationality of the solutions developed to meet the commuter crisis," Morse continued. "There will be time for communities involved to consider various financial arrangements and for the commuters themselves to experiment with alternate means of transportation."

"This bill will not cost the federal government a penny, but it will contribute to the sensible solution of our transportation problems," Morse said.

Sally Guild, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Guild, 41 Chandler Cir., was graduated on May 28 from the Chandler School for Women, Boston, where she was on the Dean's list with honors. Miss Guild is now employed as a private secretary at the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co., Boston.

Completely inside ear

This tiny hearing aid, called the Sonet, is the smallest hearing aid ever made by Sonotone. It's worn entirely in the ear without outside attachments. Despite its incredibly tiny size, the Sonet can help 70% of hearing losses.

Sonotone has been a leader in hearing aid development for 37 years. A Sonotone office was opened in Lawrence over 30 years ago and it has been under the capable management of Mrs. Theresa Manz Amore for the past 15 years. An Andover resident, Mrs. Amore has tested the hearing of St. Augustine's students for many years. In fact, she specializes in children.

Whatever your hearing problem, call Mrs. Amore, 682-4730, or stop in at the Sonotone office, Room 315-316, Bay State Building, Lawrence.

Kamakura, Japan

Have you ever dreamed of sailing on the Nile to see the treasures of ancient Egypt or climbing high in the Andes to the Lost Kingdom of the Incas in Peru? Stop dreaming and go! Florence Regan and Ann DeRoche, Lawrence, and Dorothy Smerdon of Methuen did when they recently visited Hong Kong, Thailand and Japan through the arrangements of Sutton Travel Service with its president, Betty Couillard, shown on the left. Sutton Travel Service, with two offices for your convenience, has been making travel dreams come true for thousands of area residents since 1908 when Miss Couillard's grandfather founded the agency by conducting tours to Great Britain.

REV. DAVID E. ALLEN

Curate Allen Is Ordained

Rev. David Edward Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Allen of Saugus, was ordained to the Sacred Order of Priests Tuesday at Christ Episcopal Church by the Rt. Rev. John Melville Burgess, D.D., Suffragan Bishop of Massachusetts.

Mr. Allen, a deacon in the Episcopal Church, is curate at Christ Church. He attended Berkeley Divinity School, New Haven, Conn., after his undergraduate studies at Boston University.

Rev. J. Edison Pike, rector of Christ Church, presented Mr. Allen for ordination. The Ordination Sermon was preached by Rev. Robert Nelson Back, St. Luke's Church, Darien, Conn.; the Litany was read by the Rev. Stephen P. Austill, St. John's Church, Saugus. During the celebration of the Holy Eucharist the Epistle and Gospel were read by the Rev. William G. Johnson, St. Paul's Church, North Kingstown, Rhode Island and the Rev. Donald W. Noseworthy of the Church of the Holy Spirit, Wayland. The music, sung by the Adult Choir of Christ Church, was under the direction of Thomas Foster.

Following the service a reception was held in the parish house for Rev. Allen and Bishop Burgess.

Vale Church Meets Goal

The building committee for the Vale United Church reported last week that pledges in excess of $40,000 have been collected in the drive for funds for construction of a new church structure and educational facilities.

The congregation voted May 1 to proceed with the $180,000 project providing members would pledge roughly $40,000 to complete the first four years of financing.

With this stipulation having been met, the committee is now finalizing negotiations for the purchase of land at Clark Road and Avenue where the new church is to be located.

Hopes are that the house at the site can be relocated on the lot within six months to make way for the start of construction. The residential structure is to be used as the church parsonage.

THREE GRADUATE

Three Andover students were among those graduating at the University of Pennsylvania last week.

Included were: Saul Birnbaum, 33 Sutherland St., master of science for work in electrical engineering; Richard H. Chase, 50 Marilyn Rd., BS in economics and Mary M. Costello, 83 Salem St., master of arts.

REV. DAVID E. ALLEN

Curate Allen Is Ordained

Rev. David Edward Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Allen of Saugus, was ordained to the Sacred Order of Priests Tuesday at Christ Episcopal Church by the Rt. Rev. John Melville Burgess, D.D., Suffragan Bishop of Massachusetts.

Mr. Allen, a deacon in the Episcopal Church, is curate at Christ Church. He attended Berkeley Divinity School, New Haven, Conn. after his undergraduate studies at Boston University.

Rev. J. Edison Pike, rector of Christ Church, presented Mr. Allen for ordination. The Ordination Service was presided over by Robert Nelson Back, St. Luke's Church, Darien, Conn.; the Litany was read by the Rev. Stephen Austill, St. John's Church, Saugus. During the celebration of the Holy Eucharist the Epistle and Gospel were read by the Rev. William G. Johnson, St. Paul's Church, North Kingstown, Rhode Island and the Rev. Donald W. Noseworthy of the Church of the Holy Spirit, Wayland. The music, sung by the Adult Choir of Christ Church, was under the direction of Thomas Foster.

Following the service a reception was held in the parish house for Rev. Allen and Bishop Burgess.

Vale Church Meets Goal

The building committee for Ballard Vale United Church reported last week that pledges in excess of $40,000 have been collected in the drive for funds for construction of a new church structure and educational facilities.

The congregation voted May 1 to proceed with the $180,000 project providing members would pledge roughly $40,000 to cover the first four years of financing. With this stipulation having been met, the committee is now finalizing negotiations for the purchase of land at Clark Road and Hill Avenue where the new church is to be located.

Hopes are that the house at the site can be relocated on the lot within six months to make way for the start of construction. The residential structure is to be used as the church parsonage.

Big Week In Sports

Andover High trackmen came home Monday with the State Class C outdoor track championship, adding the title to the indoor championship won earlier in their unbeaten season.

The team had a comfortable lead over defending champion Randolph, winning 45-1/2 to 35.

Turning in record-breaking performances were Mike Corry and John McMahon. Corry cleared the high jump bar at 6'3 1/4", one quarter inch more than the record set a year ago by a Danvers student.

And Senior McMahon set a new Class C record by doing the 440 in 49.7. This not only topped the state record of 49.8 but broke all Andover High records as well.

Other wins: first places, Ed Huot, shotput; and John Hess, broad jump, second places, John Hess, Bill Gower and McMahon, relay; and Mike Winters, pole vault.

In addition to the honors he collected in the state meet, McMahon was presented a week ago with the Most Valuable Senior Athlete Award at the annual all-sports dinner held by the Andover Boosters' Club.

McMahon has made a high school sports record in both track and football.

Also receiving key awards: Basketball Coach Wilbur Hixon who received a plaque for his "coaching and promotion of basketball; and Athletic Director Donald Dunn, recognized for his "exceptionally meritorious service to the youth of Andover.

A number of other awards were given members of both boys' and girls' athletic teams, who have made outstanding records in 1966.

Board OK's New Study

Two members of the Andover Historical Society, one from the planning board, one from the conservation commission and one from the Chamber of Commerce will be asked to serve on an Andover Historic District Study Committee.

The Board of Selectmen authorized the committee last week, acting upon a suggestion from S. Marcus Sweet, 3 Stinson Rd.

Sweet's proposal included this comment:

"It is evident that the requirements of an expanding business district will, in a few more years, have an influence on neighboring residential areas which have great historical significance to the community and which, to a large degree, establish its character. The problem of preserving our historical heritage while encouraging the orderly growth of the business district is not insoluble, but nevertheless, should be considered with thoughtful foresight in the best interests of all concerned."

Upon the suggestion of Selectman Sidney P. White, it was voted that the committee include two members from the Historical Society in preference to two members from the planning Board as Sweet proposed.

White said he would personally prefer old Andover residents rather than newcomers on the committee.
